Claudia Serigado Antunes appointed Head of Global Transaction Banking in Spain

Societe Generale announces the appointment of Claudia Serigado Antunes as Head of Global Transaction Banking in Spain, effective immediately. Based in Madrid, Claudia reports to Donato González, Group Country Head for Spain and Portugal, and to Philippe Penichou, Head of Cash Management International Network.

Claudia Serigado Antunes' main mission is to drive the expansion of the transaction banking business in Spain, by intensifying commercial efforts and leveraging on possible local synergies, a key growth lever for the Group. With over 20 years of experience in financial markets, Claudia Serigado Antunes brings added value to our business in Spain thanks to her expertise and her extensive experience.

Global Transaction Banking integrates business activities such as cash management, international trade finance, factoring, correspondent banking and related currency services. The Bank offers that expertise to large-to-medium size corporates that conduct business globally and to financial institutions. Societe Generale is present in Spain since 1906, with a main focus on corporate and investment banking activities, asset management and securities services.

Biography

Claudia Serigado Antunes is appointed Head of Global Transaction Banking in Spain, supervising the activities of International Cash Management, Trade Finance, Factoring & Supply Chain Finance. She was previously Head of Payments and Cash Management in Spain, since February 2016 when she joined the Group. Prior to joining Societe Generale she worked for eight years for Royal Bank of Scotland as Deputy Country Head of Global Transaction Banking for Spain and Portugal.

Claudia holds a degree in Economics from Universidade Catolica Portuguesa and a Postgraduate in Finance from ISCTE. She also completed Promociona, Executive Program for Women in Senior Management (ESADE).
