Société Générale Cross Asset Research enhances its Global Equity Research product with 40 stocks now covered internationally

Société Générale Cross Asset Research continues to enhance its Global Equity Research product with 40 stocks now covered outside of Europe, with a total market capitalisation of $1.1 trillion, across 15 sectors and in 8 countries. This global sector research approach complements the bank's existing coverage of more than 400 Pan-European stocks.

The competitive advantage of this model is the coverage of sectors by analysts on a global basis instead of region by region. This global research offering is backed up by a global execution platform, providing access to significant liquidity across 60 equity markets and algorithmic trading strategies.

Société Générale Cross Asset Research continues to innovate in challenging markets and to adapt its research to better meet the evolving needs of institutional investors globally.
